

Elfland Harmony

Listening to an orchestra can feel magical. Musicians play different instruments while working together to create enchanting music. But what if they all played their own tune, without listening to the others? It would cause clamor and chaos!

Working in unity with a group can be tricky at times. Different opinions can make it hard to agree. But when shared with kindness, ideas can blend harmoniously. It helps to remember that each person has unique talents to contribute. Listen with an open mind and attentive ears to people's suggestions. If you don't agree, that's okay. Try to find a compromise that's fair for everyone. When we practice respect and cooperation, teamwork can lead to magnificent harmony.

Use the Musical Mini Code to replace each note in the quote with the correct letter. You'll find a truth that helps us consult in harmony.

Musical notation on a staff with a treble clef. Below the staff is a 'Musical Mini Code' consisting of a row of boxes containing the letters: e, f, g, a, b, c, d.

"Th  shinin  sp  rk o  truth  om  th  orth only   t  r

th   l  sh o   i   rin  opinions." —'Abdu'l-Bahá